

Model Making and Archiving – Architectural Internship or Junior Architectural Designer (Beijing)

We are looking for talented students or recent graduates who are enthusiastic and seek experience in a thought-provoking environment, with full-time efforts on making models and experimental model-making techniques; creating models for new, current and past projects; and the careful archiving of such models. You will work closely with professional model-makers as well as in-house equipment to create and experiment on various ways of making models of different types/sizes, for showing various architectural concepts and ideas.

For Internships, positions are typically offered for a period of 6-12 months.

Minimum requirements:

- Enrollment in, or Completion of, a degree program for architecture or urban planning.
- Strong three-dimensional and design talent.
- Excellent model-making skills.
- Excellent AutoCAD and Rhino skills.
- Fluency in spoken Mandarin and English.

Students and recent graduates are invited to apply. Please email your CV and portfolio (in PDF format less than 10MB, no web links please) to employment@buro-os.com, quoting the position you apply for in the subject line of your e-mail.
